New Zealand

Marcus Holland-Moritz is a software developer from Germany. Besides writing code for money and contributing to Open Source Software projects, he enjoys taking photos and processing them with free software.

This book documents his five week trip across both islands of New Zealand in February/March 2009. He travelled more than 6,000 kilometres and took more than 15,000 photos.

New Zealand